MELLON ACCEPTS AMBASSADORSHIP TO GREAT BRITAIN

Secretary of Treasury Under Harding, Coolidge and Hoover Succeeds Dawes in Important U. S. Diplomatic Post.

MILLS TO BECOME FINANCIAL CHIEF

President Hoover Praises Public Service Rendered by Cabinet Leader in Long Career.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—After 11 years as secretary of the treasury under three presidents, Andrew W. Mellon is to hand over his portfolio to Undersecretary Ogden L. Mills and become ambassador to the court of St. James.

President Hoover announced tonight that the veteran cabinet officer who has guided the nation's financial policies since the beginning of the Harding administration has expressed his willingness to serve in the foreign field.

He succeeds Charles Gates Dawes, who resigned last month to become president of the reconstruction corporation.

For almost two weeks Mr. Mellon, who is nearly 77, has been considering undertaking the nation's most important diplomatic post, but it was not until tonight that the White House formally announced his acceptance.

Earlier in the day the secretary had smilingly admitted under questioning that he had been asked by President Hoover to become ambassador, but he hesitated because of the physical strain it would impose upon him. He said also his personal affairs caused him to go slow in leaving at this time.

It is known that late in the day he had not reached his decision and it is assumed he transmitted his acceptance directly to the president by telephone.

Hoover's Announcement.

Immediately thereafter, the president, through one of his secretaries, announced the appointment.

The president said:

"The critical situation facing all countries in their international relations, the manifold economic and other problems demanding wise solution in our national interests calls for experience and judgment of the highest order. The importance to our country of the sound determination of these difficulties needs no emphasis.

"I have decided, therefore, to call upon one of our wisest and most experienced public servants to accept a position which will enable him to perform many years of distinguished public service at home to render equal service to his country in the foreign field.

"I have asked Mr. Mellon to undertake the ambassadorship to Great Britain. I am happy to say he has expressed his willingness to serve."

The nominations of Mr. Mellon and Mr. Mills are expected to go to the capitol together.

Mills a Key-Man.

Mr. Mills has been one of the key-men of the administration since its formation, and particularly during the last year when economic problems

Senate Leaders See Ultimate Passage of Substitute Proposal Despite Sharp Opposition.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The presentation of a democratic plan for lending instead of giving federal funds for unemployment relief developed a sharp intra-party row today in the senate.

Nevertheless, senate leaders said the plan, which calls for an appropriation of $750,000,000 to be divided equally between road construction and relief loans to states, was likely to be adopted.

Debate became more spirited than at any previous time this session. Senator Costigan, of Colorado, chided his democratic colleagues who sought federal funds last session for drought victims but were now opposed to direct federal aid to the jobless.

He read excerpts of the speeches made last session by Senator Robinson, democratic leader, and Senator Black, of Alabama, in favor of appropriating $25,000,000 to be distributed by the Red Cross.

Robinson and Black supported the plan advanced by the democratic steering committee today as a substitute for the La Follette-Costigan bill to appropriate $375,000,000 for direct relief, which is now before the senate.

They replied that the issue presented by Costigan's bill was not the same as in the case of the drought

Rose Allen Charges Edward Allen Said He Would Kill Donaldson if Apartment Was Entered

BY WILLIAM R. SPEAR.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Unusually biting her thin, pale lips, black-garbed Rose Allen told a jury today that her older brother, Eddie, threatened to slay Francis A. Donaldson III, her fiancé.

She said the threat was made a few hours before the killing occurred in the marble foyer of the Allen's fashionable apartment house in Norristown.

"I told him I didn't like it and I was going to get out and I asked him who he thought he was, that he was running things around here and he said, 'I thought he was God, right at that moment.'"

On direct examination she said that was the extent of the conversation. Cross-examined by William T. Connor, of defense counsel, she admitted that there might have been more.

Connor asked her whether she had

DAMAGE IS HEAVY, LIFE LOSS LIGHT IN CUBAN 'QUAKE

Disturbance Centering at Santiago Takes Eight Lives and Injures 300 in Series of Shocks.

By J. P. McKnight.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Santiago was virtually a deserted city tonight in consequence of a series of disastrous earthquake shocks which left eight known dead and created damage officially estimated in excess of $10,000,000.

Mayor Desiderio Arnaz was authorized for the death list and he estimated at least 300 had been injured. United States ambassador to Cuba, arrived by airplane to promise assistance to the stricken city.

Hospitals continued their care for the wounded, while approximately 75 per cent of the 130,000 population streamed into outlying country away from stricken, wrenched homes. Approximately 150 major operations were performed in victims during the day.

Navy Lends Aid.

In the harbor floated the United States destroyer Hopkins, with navy doctors, medical corpsmen and surgical supplies.

A further survey showed extensive damage to the Swift & Co. building, the customs house, the third floor of the Woolworth store, the San Carlos Club, the two buildings of the Hotel Venus and the Hotel Casa Granda.

The buildings of the Bacardi distillery and the city hall were damaged, and the company lost 750,000 quarts of beer when vat pipes were broken.

Reports from outlying districts were that the town of Palms Sorino was slightly damaged, but that El Cobre, where the image of Cuba's patron saint stands, was unharmed. It previously had been reported damaged.

The swift series of tremors left hardly a building in the city untouched and a few were destroyed. Any estimate of the damage was only tentative until the task of bringing order out of chaos had been completed.

In the first confusion, as all of the able 130,000 residents were busy in the streets, the city was in a state of panic. The swift series of tremors left hardly a building in the city untouched and a few were destroyed.

Even before the last of the series of nine shocks had left their jarring impact, the military had assumed control. Soldiers superintended the removal of the more seriously injured to hospitals, and help came by plane from the United States fleet at Guantanamo.

Those who had not been pressed into emergency service began packing their belongings and were streaming to the hills.

Santiago was asleep when the first tremor shook the city shortly after midnight. This shock was followed by a more destructive one, and then came panic. It was not lessened in the quick succession of lighter shocks that followed.

General Electric Plans $6,000,000 Ad Budget

Sheriff of New York Indicted for Larceny

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—While Sheriff Thomas M. Farley guarded a condemned murderer today, he and his predecessor, Charles W. Culkin, were indicted for grand larceny.

The indictments were the second and third returned within 10 days as the result of revelations before the Hofstadter legislative committee investigating the city administration.

James J. McCormick, deputy city clerk, and a former leader, was indicted by the same grand jury 10 days ago on a charge of accepting illegal fees.

The indictments against Sheriff Farley and former Sheriff Culkin are the result of testimony they gave the committee regarding their bank accounts, which showed incomes far in excess of their salaries as sheriffs.

The excess, they testified, came partly from interest which they retained on money entrusted to their care.

Japan Expected To Offer Own Plan To End Strife; Americans Flee Nanking

Continuation of Fighting and Rejection of Truce Offer Cause Grave Apprehension Among Washington Officials.

Action Demanded On Navy Measure

Senate Committee Defers Action on Bill Proposing Embargo on Arms to China and Japan.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Continued fighting at Shanghai today caused great apprehension in official Washington, which hoped the peace plan submitted to Japan and China might silence the naval gunfire and land batteries which keep the Chinese metropolis in turmoil.

China's unqualified acceptance of the American-British peace proposal was a foregone conclusion. Messages from Tokyo announcing the Japanese cannot accept the fifth provision of the plan, which stipulates that "all outstanding controversies between the two nations" be settled by negotiations, were a disappointment to the state department and the White House.

No official reply from Japan has been submitted to Secretary Stimson but the Japanese embassy expects to be able to deliver an answer to the American-British proposals tomorrow.

In official circles this is expected to contain counter-proposals to replace the clause to which Japan objects on the ground that the Manchurian dispute as well as the Shanghai situation would be included under the terms of the plan.

Japan has repeatedly insisted the Manchurian situation is one which must be settled between Japan and China alone.

The administration makes no effort to conceal its worry lest the thousands of armed men both within and without the International Settlement get out of control, and is making every effort to speed up the peace negotiations through Ambassador Forbes at Tokyo and Nelson T. Johnson, the American minister to China, who has gone to Nanking from Peking.

Admiral Pratt, chief of naval operations, today promised "100 per cent naval and military co-operation" in preserving the neutrality and safety of the International Settlement.

He made this pledge in a radio message to Admiral Taylor, commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet, directing him in his conference with neutral naval and military authorities to assure the latter of the United States' full co-operation.

Pratt also sent a message to Admiral Taylor expressing full confidence that the latter and Admiral Nomura, who is to take command of Japan's fleet in Chinese waters, will evolve a "happy solution" which will

Day's Developments In Sino-Jap Crisis

Chinese Claim of Sinking Destroyer Denied by Japanese; Cannons in Shanghai Silent After Long Bombardment.

By the Associated Press.

Field guns and machine guns roared and rattled in a new battle at Shanghai today, with Japanese naval guns booming in the distance, as peace proposals submitted by the United States, Britain, France and Italy were found to be unacceptable to Japan.

A force of United States Marines sent to strengthen the defense of the International Settlement was landed and took up posts.

It was indicated in Tokyo that the Japanese formal reply to the four powers' proposals for Sino-Japanese peace would be a series of counter suggestions.

Foreign Minister Yoshizawa announced that his government was unalterably opposed to neutral participation in Sino-Japanese negotiations regarding Manchuria, the groundwork for which was laid in one of the items of the powers' peace program.

After a distinct slackening during the night, hostilities at Shanghai between Chinese and Japanese forces broke out again this morning with the use of machine guns and field guns over a wide front.

Three Japanese destroyers shelled the Chinese forts at the mouth of the Whangpoo river, 16 miles below Shanghai, at noon today and several artillery shells were fired from the Japanese gunboats to have fallen in the residential sections of the International Settlement today.

Where the guns were that threw the shells was not known inside the Settlement, but the shells were believed to have come from the Chapei battle front.

Firing from machine guns and light artillery continued in volume at noon, indicating that a sharp engagement was under way.

A dispatch from Tokyo today said the Japanese navy had sent a division of Japanese troops was on the way to Shanghai, but official confirmation was lacking.

Japanese Expected To Offer Counter Proposal To End Strife.

Impossible unless the Chinese withdraw to a safe distance, the Japanese government has announced today. The establishment of a neutral zone is acceptable and perhaps Japan may accept a permanent agreement that no Chinese troops be allowed within a stipulated distance of Shanghai's International Settlement. Such an agreement would be similar to the Tientsin-Bowen protocol.

It is impossible for Japan to agree under any circumstances to the participation of any third power in negotiations with China so far as the Manchurian controversy is concerned. Dispatches from Manchuria indicated that General Jiro Tanaka would be able to take Harbin without bloodshed. Soviet Russia, with 40,000 nationals in Harbin and a half share in the Chinese Eastern railway, which has headquarters there, thus far has accepted the prospect of Japanese domination with only the mildest objections.

It remains to be seen, however, what will be the result of the divergent Japanese and Russian interests are brought into closest contact. It is uncertain whether Japan will be satisfied to occupy Harbin or will decide to extend operations eastward and westward to suppress recalcitrant elements along the Chinese Eastern.

WOOSUNG FORTS TARGET OF JAPANESE WARSHIPS

(Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press.) SHANGHAI, Feb. 4.—(Thursday.) Japanese warships bombarded the Woosung forts in a renewal of the fierce battle with Chinese forces today while Japanese bluejackets and Chinese troops fought with machine guns and artillery in Shanghai.

Several shells were reported to have fallen within the foreign settlement from the Chinese battle front shortly after 328 United States marines were landed from the cruiser Houston to reinforce American defense lines.

Unconfirmed dispatches from Tokyo said a division of Japanese soldiers were on the march to Shanghai to strengthen the forces of approximately 5,000 men fighting several times that many Chinese troops.

Three Japanese destroyers opened fire on the forts that guard the mouth of the Whangpoo river, 16 miles below Shanghai, at noon in a resumption of the smashing onslaught of yesterday.

Counter Claims. Japanese naval officials declared they had reduced the forts to ruins. Chinese authorities disputed the claim. Their guns, they said in a rival claim, sank a Japanese airplane and disabled two warships, but the Japanese denied the Chinese assertions.

The firing today, distinctly audible in the northern sections of Shanghai, was believed to extend along the Shanghai-Woosung railway. The major scene of operations had been transferred from the native city of Shanghai, where numerous fires reddened the city.

A big Japanese lumber mill was ablaze on the western boundary of the International settlement.

In Hongkong, where Japanese machine guns raked streets and houses yesterday in a search for Chinese snipers, the situation was comparatively quiet. But rifle fire and the rattle of an occasional machine-gun could be heard as the bluejackets continued their hunt for sharpshooters.

Official reports that 120 Japanese airplanes were concentrated on aircraft carriers lying off the Saddle Islands and Hangchow bay heightened apprehension of further bombardment from the air.

Business To Be Resumed. Chinese bankers and businessmen decided to reopen banks and all stores essential to the community, with the exception of the Shanghai's paralyzed business, at least 75 per cent of which has been at a standstill.

The United States marine reinforcements were landed at the Bund in the International Settlement and rushed in motor trucks to the Japanese cotton mill area within the American sector of the settlement. There they replaced Japanese forces, who left to take up new stands while the Americans consolidated their positions along Soochow creek, facing Chinese barricades on the opposite bank.

In the rival claims of victory, Teng Chen-chuan, Woosung commander, said the Japanese warship went down after Chinese gunners had scored three direct hits. But Japanese naval authorities declared every bottom was safe and accounted for.

Chinese refugees seeking haven within the Shanghai International settlement taxed its capacity. Every possible square foot of space was put

SOLDIERS PUNISHED FOR CONSUL ATTACK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—

The American legation at Peking reported to the state department today three Japanese who assaulted Consul Oliver B. Chamberlain during the Manchurian conflict had been punished.

The acting Japanese consul general notified the legation that Sakakibara, chief offender, was sentenced to three months in the army prison at Kokura, Japan, and the two soldiers involved with him were reprimanded.

Chamberlain was attacked by the three when his automobile was halted by Japanese patrol.

into use to accommodate them. It was estimated that the refugee population was close to 1,000,000.

All during yesterday Japanese nationals poured out of Shanghai. Three lines of Japanese full load trains and those who could not crowd aboard were told that transportation would be provided today.

Destroyers on Way. The American community was cheered by news that the destroyers Whipple, John D. Edwards, Smith and Barker, and Pope would arrive from Manila some time after dawn.

The British colony was similarly heartened by the arrival of 800 crack Highlanders from Hongkong.

During yesterday's bombardment several duds fell near the United States destroyer Parrott, which was tied up in the Whangpoo river alongside a barge owned by the Texaco Oil Company. Other duds landed near oil storage tanks of the Texaco company and of the property of the British-owned Asiatic Petroleum Company.

The planes participating in the bombing raid over Shanghai left an inferno in their wake. On the ground, machine gunners steadily into Chinese strong points. Then the Chinese artillery got into action. A number of their shells fell in the area of the Japanese headquarters near Hongkew Park, in the grounds of a boys' school, and along the rifle range road, but they failed to explode.

MANCHURIA CONTINUES AS KEY TO SITUATION BY P. J. LIPSEY JR.

GENEVA, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The rich province of Manchuria, pushed into the background by the recent dramatic events in Shanghai and Nanking, was thrust forward again today when the Chinese demanded that the great powers and the League include it in their concerted plan to settle the Sino-Japanese conflict.

have been uppermost in the mind of President Hoover has been a constant adviser. Mellon has a move dealing with the nation's finances been made recently without Mr. Hoover first consulting the undersecretary.

Mr. Mellon's familiarity with international affairs, war debts and other aspects of international relations, with which he must deal figured importantly in the decision to ask him to go to London.

Serving through troublous times, including the period of economic readjustment following the war, during which the debts arising from that conflict were funded, and on into the present business declines, Mr. Mellon has been the object of praise of the highest order and criticism and denunciation as well.

Counter Move. The latter reached a climax in the recent move of Representative Patman, democrat, Texas, to impeach the treasury head. His resolution to bring this about was the subject of recent hearings before the house judiciary committee. The proposal is now in the hands of a subcommittee.

In spite of the critical attitude of some members of the senate, administration leaders and friends of Mellon were confident tonight that his nomination would be confirmed by an overwhelming vote.

Associates of the secretary said the one question in his mind in connection with acceptance concerned his physical ability to take the job. He is nearly 77 years of age, but nevertheless is active and in good health.

Treasury Affairs. In explaining his first hesitation in accepting the government's most important diplomatic post, Mr. Mellon said there were a few problems still pending in the treasury in which he was deeply interested, and that his personal affairs caused him to go slow in leaving at this time.

He came into the cabinet on March 4, 1921, under appointment from President Harding, and has continued in office under three presidents. He has also served longer than any other cabinet officer except Albert Gallatin, who held the office from 1801 to 1813, and James Wilson, who headed the agriculture department from 1807 to 1813.

Mr. Mellon came to the treasury from the presidency of the Mellon National Bank at Pittsburgh, Pa., which he piloted to a position of leading importance in the financial affairs of the nation.

As secretary, he insisted that the government balance its budget. During his term, the national debt was reduced from $20,000,000,000 to $17,000,000,000. He has been a constant advocate of reduced taxation.

For years there have been recurring rumors that "Mellon will resign." Time and again he has said there was no truth in them. He remembered that today when asked if he would become ambassador to Great Britain.

After explaining he had the president's offer under consideration, he glanced up with a smile.

"You will remember that I would resign," he said, "I told you that I would stay here until you forgot those rumors about me."

Mr. Mellon has spent most of his vacations in Europe. While in southern France last summer, President Hoover asked him to represent this government at negotiations with world powers which resulted in the agreement to postpone for one year all international debt payments.

Mr. Mellon also took an active part in the negotiations which led up to the funding of the $11,000,000,000 war debt owed the United States by its allies.

It was just a little over a year ago that one break came in the cabinet of President Hoover with the resignation of James J. Davis as secretary of labor to become senator from Pennsylvania. Earlier Secretary Hurley succeeded to the war department after the death of James W. Good.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—(Thursday)—The manner in which London newspapers received the announcement that President Hoover had invited Andrew W. Mellon to become ambassador to Great Britain indicated today that his acceptance of the post would find a hearty welcome.

AMERICANS FLEE FROM NANKING

36 U. S. Women, Children Taken Aboard British Steamer.

NANKING, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Thirty-six American women and children were evacuated from Nanking today aboard the British river steamer Woonung, which will take them to Shanghai. A number of British women and children also were aboard.

Other members of the American colony will be taken out of Nanking on the United States destroyer Simpson, now anchored in the Yangtze off the Nanking docks. Foreign businessmen and missionaries decided to remain in the city for the present.

Sir Miles Lampson, British minister to China, was expected to proceed to Nanking. He has been at Tientsin and his return here was delayed by heavy troop movements on the Tientsin-Pukow railway. It was understood urgent instructions that he proceed to Shanghai awaited him here.

China announced complete acceptance of the international peace proposals to deal with the Shanghai situation. The foreign office said steps were being taken to avoid further fighting.

An agreement was reached between Chinese and Japanese officials under which each side promised not to resort to further hostilities at Nanking "unless provoked."

Nanking was under martial law and the Chinese authorities directed troops and police to make special efforts to protect foreigners.

French Editors Avoid Far East Comment

PARIS, Feb. 3.—(AP)—French newspapers, while devoting great space to the news from the far east, have had little to say lately in editorial comment on the strife between China and Japan.

This is partially explained by the fact that the principal foreign editors have turned reporters and gone to Geneva for the disarmament conference. Other editorial writers are absorbed with debate on measures designed to alter France's electoral laws, which is dragging on in the chamber of deputies.

Le Temps, which is close to French officials, manifested a spirit of hope today in brief comment on the Sino-Japanese situation, saying that everything indicated that joint representations made by the United States, Great Britain and France to Japan had a good chance of attaining its object of peace.

On the other hand, the liberal Soire observed that "Japan acts as if preparing for a long war" and said it was convinced that Japan's policy was for progressive seizure of China.

agreement had been concluded for the evacuation of Japanese troops from the portion of the International Settlement assigned to the American marines.

Representative McFadden told the house that to postpone action on the $616,250,000 naval construction bill would be "most foolhardy." He declared that "the dark shadow of war clouds rises upon the western horizon of the Pacific."

The destroyer tender Black Hawk was ordered from Manila to join the other American naval forces at Shanghai.

In New York a sharp rally was registered in Japanese bonds. Japanese troops reached the outskirts of Harbin, important railroad center in northern Manchuria, and they expected to occupy the city without bloodshed today.

CLAUSEN DEFENSE CITES ROMANCE OF 21 YEARS AGO

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Willie Mae Clausen tonight patiently hoped for acquittal in the slaying of her former lover, Foster K. Hale Jr., whom she met 21 years ago when she was only 14 years old.

Attorneys' arguments were completed late today and the jurors began deliberating and at 5:05 p. m. after hearing the prosecution ask for a verdict which would fix punishment at death and the defense request acquittal.

An unmarried woman, member of defense counsel, asked the jurors to remember that Hale had promised the girl costly clothing, money and automobiles. These promises, she said, were made when the girl met Hale.

Previously a member of the defense counsel had requested acquittal because of Mrs. Clausen's inexperience and age at the time she met Hale, whom the defendant claimed was killed accidentally while both were trying to get possession of the pistol which caused the death.

Hale was 54 years old at the time of the shooting, June 16, 1931, and Mrs. Clausen is 35.

guarantee the neutrality and safety of the International Settlement.

Ambassador Debutchi, of Japan, said Taylor and Nomura are "very good friends" and expressed confidence that they would "play ball together."

Representative McFadden, republican member from Pennsylvania, who has been caustic in his criticism of President Hoover, made an appeal in the house today to get the $600,000,000 war construction bill out of the pigeonhole.

Urges Consideration. "To withhold this bill from immediate consideration is a most foolhardy action," he said.

"Today the dark shadow of war clouds rises upon the western horizon of the Pacific. A determined military empire, with the tradition and equipment of warfare sweeps aside treaties and conference agreements as they were swept aside in that July of 1914, when the hell-broth of the World War was being brewed in the kettles of European diplomacy."

Mr. McFadden read a statement on the need for national defense by Henry L. Stevens, commander of the American Legion, and lamented that the rest of the world stands "armed and ready for the issue," while American defenses are skeletonized.

The destroyer tender Black Hawk left Manila with surplus infantrymen of the 1st infantry and United States marines who were unable to be accommodated on the navy transport Chaumont. It follows the Chaumont to Shanghai.

While at that city, it will aid the destroyer of the Asiatic fleet and probably will be held in readiness to evacuate American residents, if such action becomes necessary. The Chaumont, due at Shanghai tomorrow, also will be available for evacuation purposes.

Tennessee Bar Recommends Outright Dry Law Repeal

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 3.—(AP)—

The Bar Association of Tennessee was recorded today as favoring the repeal of the prohibition amendment, and of the seventeenth amendment, which provides for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.

Repeal of both amendments was recommended by the committee on jurisprudence and law reform, headed by Fitzgerald Hall, of Nashville, at the association's annual meeting at Jackson last June. The recommendations, along with 14 others, were submitted to the membership by referendum ballot.

A Longstreet Hickok, association secretary, would not make public the total vote cast, but said a "representative vote" from ballots mailed to the association's 1,500 members showed sentiment nearly two to one in favor of the repeal of both amendments. Results were mailed to Knoxville today for publication in the Tennessee Law Review, official organ of the bar.

By its vote, the association urged the next general assembly of Tennessee to memorialize congress to take steps for the repeal of the two amendments.

"The solution of the liquor traffic involves questions of morals, economics, hygiene and local police; the eighteenth amendment involves solely a question of political philosophy," the majority voted. The amendment was termed "a complete failure, not a complete success," and the membership doubted "if it has added

SUBSTITUTE BILL ON TAXES SOUGHT

General Manufacturers' Sales Measure Is Advocated.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A general manufacturers' sales tax to return about $600,000,000 annually in additional federal revenue was advocated today for the new revenue bill by representatives of several major industries.

Nearly a score of witnesses stoutly opposed propositions before the house ways and means committee to levy excise taxes on their industries. Virtually all conceded it was vital to balance the nation's budget, but declared selected excise taxes would be discriminatory, would destroy business and inflict injury to employment and consumers.

Representatives of the American Petroleum Institute contended a one-cent federal tax on gasoline would drive automobiles from the highways and would encourage bootlegging in gasoline to evade federal and existing high state taxes. This tax if adopted is calculated to bring in about $150,000,000 annually in revenues.

Ormandy's Magnificent Conducting 'Tremendous Musical Experience'

When Eugene Ormandy walked out on the stage of Wesley Memorial auditorium Wednesday evening and lifted his baton to conduct the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, there was an atmosphere that pervaded the entire audience of divine inspiration and magnetic power of a master mind. And this dynamic atmosphere was not dispelled throughout the concert. A program of magnificent proportions was received with all the enthusiasm and appreciation Atlanta music lovers could give, and the audience left at the end exclaiming at such a marvelous conducting personality and with a feeling that they had been lifted into realms hitherto unknown.

Ormandy is a master musician, conducting everything entirely from memory, an unimaginable feat, with a gift of drawing the very best out of each of the 85 members of the Minneapolis symphony, whose every expression as they follow minutest directions is one of devotion and confidence. The result is the musical attainment heard Wednesday evening which is so feebly expressed in words. The first half of the program was the "Symphony in G Minor, No. 1," by Brahms, given a dramatic and wholly sympathetic reading with utmost authority in the expression of every mood and passion, revealing untold beauties in this magnificent work.

After intermission came first the lovely "Nocturne," followed by the exquisite "Scherzo" from Mendelssohn's incidental music to "A Midsummer Night's Dream." "Waltz" from "Der Rosenkavalier," Richard Strauss, was a charming, graceful waltz, played with finesse and rubato, every artistic whim of the conductor being expressed in perfect ensemble.

The program came to a climatic close in the "Prelude" to Wagner's "Die Meistersinger," and Ormandy was recalled again and again, giving an encore "Polka" from the opera "Schwanda," by Weinberger, which has enjoyed such tremendous success since its debut at the Metropolitan this year: "The Bumble-Bee," Rimsky-Korsakoff; and "Rakoczy March," Berlioz.

The vision and foresight of the Atlanta Music Club in its plan for civic membership, all concerts of the membership, $5, made possible such a rare concert as that Wednesday evening, and to this organization goes the credit of such a tremendous musical experience.

LEGGER DOCTORS HIT BY BEER FOE

Ninety Per Cent of Liquor Prescriptions Illegal, Senate Body Is Told

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A statement that "well over 90 per cent" of the liquor prescriptions issued by doctors are "bootlegging prescriptions" was made before a senate committee today by one member of the medical profession and denied by another.

Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan, head of the surgical department of Rush Medical College of the University of Chicago, and a former president of the American Medical Association, made the assertion while testifying against a bill to legalize 4 per cent beer.

His statement was challenged later by a witness who favored the bill, Dr. William F. Lorenz, director of the psychiatric institute of the University of Wisconsin.

When Dr. Lorenz took the stand he was asked by Senator Blaine (Republican, Wisconsin), an anti-prohibitionist, to give his reaction to "this astounding proposition that over 90 per cent of the medical profession are engaged in a conspiracy to violate the law."

"I certainly cannot concur in that statement," he replied. "I am amazed at anyone maligning the medical profession to that extent."

He said his experience, not only in Wisconsin, but elsewhere, had shown evidence of no such conditions.

Walking Streets in Search of Wife, Richland, Ga., Man Badly Injured

The story of a husband's untiring search for his wife, missing from their small home near Richland, Ga., reached a tragic climax here Wednesday night when the man, wandering about a strange city, was struck down and seriously injured by an automobile, which became involved in two other accidents before the man was taken to Grady hospital.

Several days ago Thomas R. Welch, a young man whose home is near Richland, appealed to Atlanta police to help him find his wife, missing for two weeks. A search of police files disclosed that the young woman was in the city stockade, following her failure to pay a fine of $17.50 on a disorderly conduct charge. Welch succeeded Wednesday in obtaining a pardon, and his wife was ordered to be brought to police station, where she was to meet him.

In the bustle of the station house, Welch missed his wife, who apparently wandered away, and Wednesday night he started walking about the streets in search of her. On Mitchell between Pryor and Whitehall streets, he was struck by a car driven by A. M. Morris, 1220 Hartford avenue. Morris picked up the injured man and started for Grady. At Washington street his car collided with a machine driven by S. W. Ramsey, of East Point. Ramsey was charged with reckless driving, and Morris proceeded toward the hospital.

On Butler street Morris' car struck a foundation abutment of the railroad overhead bridge, demolishing the machine and throwing both Morris and Welch to the street. Morris abandoned his machine and summoned an ambulance.

Welch and Morris were carried to the hospital, where the Richland man was found to have received a severe fracture of the skull. Morris' injuries were slight, and after treatment he was arrested on a charge of reckless driving.

AUDITORIUM DRIVE IS GIVEN IMPETUS

50 Prominent Atlantans Meet and Perfect Plans for Campaign.

Encouragement was given the campaign for a new municipal auditorium Wednesday when more than 50 prominent Atlantans perfected plans for an intensive drive in behalf of the project.

Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, of Fulton county superior court, was elected chairman of the special citizens' committee, although he was tied up in court and could not be present at the meeting.

Other officers selected were: Julian Boehm, Will L. Hancock, A. L. Belle Isle and Mrs. W. P. Dunn, vice presidents; Robert Strickland Jr., executive vice president of the Trust Company of Georgia, treasurer; Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta Convention bureau, secretary, and Press Huddleston, director of publicity. Councilman John A. White, chairman of the public buildings committee of council, and author of the movement for the new building, was made ex-officio member of the officers' committee.

Thirty-six prominent Atlantans and leaders living in the metropolitan area will be selected to form the steering committee for the project. Two will come from each of the city's 13 wards and another 10 from the area immediately surrounding the city.

White called on those present to reassert the Atlanta spirit, to band together for the commonwealth and to drive the projected new auditorium to an early reality.

Jesse Draper, prominent Atlanta real estate man, presided at the session in the absence of Judge Pomeroy, who sent his regrets, but said he would co-operate in the enterprise.

The old auditorium was constructed in 1908 by public subscription much along the same lines which are advanced for the reconstruction move. The proposal is that private capital erect the structure and that the city assume the indebtedness, paying off the bonds in installments. The old structure cost $150,000 and the land on which it stands $50,000. The main auditorium will hold 5,172 persons and Taft hall, an annex, 750.

Mrs. J. R. Wakefield, civic worker, cited the need for a new police station.

Among others attending the meeting Wednesday were: Tom Slate, Colonel Gerald P. O'Keefe, Clark Harrison, W. A. Johnson, Dr. Horace Grant, Dudley Glass, Frank K. Shaw, Dr. R. W. Tharpe, Allan C. Gottschaldt, John W. Rice, McWhorter Miller, N. P. Stambaugh, John Robert Dillon, Peter M. Lynch, John A. Manget, R. H. Martin, J. F. De Jarnette, Harry F. Zobel, C. D. Knight, Robert B. Otis, G. Lloyd Preacher, George B. Yancey, Mrs. J. E. Andrews, W. T. Harrison, George A. Eckford, George Ripley Jr., V. M. Shepard, J. H. Whitten, R. M. Johnson, Sam E. Levy, Olivier J. Vinour, Ben L. Brooks, J. L. Warren, Jess Wilhoit, L. Glenn Dewberry, Walker Lee, Ben T. Huie, John A. Boykin.

LEGION SEES SHOALS AS EMPLOYMENT AID

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 3.—(AP) Operation of Muscle Shoals as a means of employment was recommended today by the southern section of the American Legion's national employment commission.

A resolution was adopted at a conference of department commanders from eight southern states, calling upon congress to settle the Shoals question and to pass other legislative measures "that will serve the best interests of the people of the country."

"If this (Shoals) question was settled by placing the Muscle Shoals in operation," the resolution said, "it would give employment and cause thousands of men to be placed at work."

The board of directors of the Georgia delegation for a national congress of financial, commercial, industrial, agricultural and labor representatives, was adopted. The resolution was presented by Basil Stockbridge, of Atlanta.

P. O. CONTRACTORS REQUIRED TO PAY CITY BUILDING FEE

Contractors in charge of construction work on the new $3,000,000 Atlanta postoffice and federal building will have to pay a city building license fee, according to Charles Bowen, city building inspector, who Wednesday received authority from City Attorney James L. Mayson to levy and collect such a fee.

In a letter to Mr. Bowen, the city attorney set forth that the contractor in charge of the postoffice construction is "bound to all city ordinances" covering the project, and that the city building inspector's duty is to enforce the building license fee section.

Mr. Bowen said that he has notified George W. Wells, contractor in charge of ground work for the new postoffice, that he is subject to payment of the fee and that Mr. Wells has arranged to confer with him today on the matter.

The amount of such a fee is one-eighth of 1 per cent of the total cost of the work, which, in the postoffice case, Mr. Bowen said, would be slightly more than $270.

Captain I. L. Daniels, chief of construction of the treasury department, Wednesday said that he had nothing to do with the question in as much as the government contract provided that the local contractor would absorb all such incidental expenses.

WEATHER IMPEDES QUEST FOR PLANES

By the Associated Press.

Weather conditions continued today to complicate the quest for three missing planes and trouble airline pilots.

Clear skies brought temporary encouragement to fliers and ground parties seeking two planes and nine persons unaccounted for in California. But fear grew that wreckage and bodies are buried by snow in the mountains.

The objects of the search are a Century Pacific air liner, lost six days with its pilot and seven passengers, and an army bombing plane piloted by Lieutenant Edward D. Hoffman.

A Bimini Airways plane with five occupants was missing off the coast of Florida. It has been unreported since Monday.

THE DANCE OF LIFE

If you have read Havelock Ellis' interesting book under the above title, you will recall how he points out that science and art, alike, are founded in the secret rhythms of nature. Science seeks to present these secrets to our minds, while art interprets them to our emotions. So the two go hand in hand, and the great exponent of each recognizes and rejoices in his kinship with the other.

This relation of science and art is often illustrated in modern manufacture—brilliantly, we point out, in the case of the automobile. Here, by a happy alliance, pre-eminent artists are today joined with pre-eminent scientists—craftsmen from the custom shops of Fleetwood and engineers from Cadillac's great laboratories. The result is a combination so naturally harmonious and so supremely capable that the fruit of its labors is something which cannot be pictured in the light of any previous accomplishments in custom coachcraft.

This you may determine for yourself, for the supreme expression of Fleetwood coachcraft is now presented in various models of the new Cadillac V-8, V-12 and V-16. In these cars you will see, as nothing else can show you, how men, too, may blend beauty and usefulness, just as it is done in the works of nature.

GEORGIA OFFICIALS URGE ROAD FUNDS

Highway Leaders Support Plan for Emergency Re- lief Building Fund.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Members of the senate committee on postoffices and post roads were urged today by officials of the Georgia highway commission to approve additional federal appropriations for emergency highway construction in the various states.

Those here from Georgia include Judd P. Wilhoit, of the highway commission; B. P. McWhorter, engineer of the commission, and P. P. Storey, treasurer of the commission.

The visiting Georgia officials did not testify in any formal hearings, but presented their view to the two senators in a conference. Previously they conferred with Senator W. J. Harris and Senator Walter F. George, together with Representative Charles R. Crisp and other members of the Georgia congressional group.

Mr. Wilhoit strongly urged upon members of the senate committee the need for further federal highway appropriations minus the usual requirement that the funds be matched dollar for dollar by the individual states. Senators Harris and George, as well as Representative Crisp, who is one of the influential majority leaders of the lower house, were found entirely favorable to the proposal for additional funds and promised their support of legislation on the subject.

C. & N. W. CALLS 500 MEN BACK TO RAIL SHOPS

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Officials of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad said today 500 men soon will be called back to work at its locomotive shops here. The movement, the officials said, is in line with the agreement recently reached between railroad executives and labor heads in which the former promised to provide as much work as possible and labor accepted a 10 per cent pay reduction.

Mr. Wilhoit and his associates urged a fund of at least $125,000,000 for operations during the current year over and above the regular federal-aid highway funds which will be forthcoming anyway. The $125,000,000, he said, should be made immediately available without any restriction for matching it with state funds. Such an emergency fund would result in Georgia getting an added $2,500,000, which, added to the approximately $2,800,000 the state will get from the regular annual federal aid appropriations, would make a total of $5,300,000 available for the fiscal year ending June 30, next.

In the event a two-year emergency program is adopted calling for $125,000,000 a year, as proposed in bills now pending in the senate, the state would receive in excess of $10,000,000 this year from the government. Mr. Wilhoit pointed out. The state's share of funds under the second year of the program would be available after July 1, when the new fiscal year begins.

STATE AID SOUGHT ON LEE ST. WORK

County Will Ask Highway Department To Help Widening Project.

Aid from the state highway board will be sought for the widening of Lee street and the paving of route nine, from the Forsyth county line to Roswell through Alpharetta, by County Commissioner Walter B. Stewart under an agreement reached Wednesday by members of the Fulton county commission. The request of Grady hospital's board of trustees for $100,000 as the county's share of Grady operation costs this year will be considered by the commission at 11 o'clock Friday morning.

Commissioner Stewart said that the widening of Lee street from McCall's crossing to East Point and the paving of the car track area from East Point to College Park will be taken up by him with the state highway board in the near future. This project is absolutely necessary, and the commission will insist that the state aid in the work, he said. The highway from East Point to College Park is one of the most dangerous stretches of road in the county, Stewart said.

Samuel C. Dobbs, chairman of the Grady board, presented the appeal of the hospital and said that the realization of his dream of a great hospital to be built by Fulton county will solve the city's and county's charity hospital problem. Commissioner Walter C. Hendrix suggested consideration in the future of some plan to create a taxing district to support the hospital and other charities. Dr. Joe Bradford, of Battle Hill Sanatorium, and Councilman J. Frank Beck, chairman of council's hospitals and charities committee, appealed for $30,000 to build a children's ward at the city tuberculosis hospital. This request was taken under consideration.

BORN IN AUSTRIA, HITLER REVEALED AS GERMAN OFFICER

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The revelation that Adolf Hitler, Austrian-born leader of the German fascists, had been appointed police commissioner of a small town in Thuringia in July, 1930, was looked on tonight as having a possible bearing in the presidential election next spring.

The government is planning a thorough investigation of the case after receiving information from two officials in the office of former Minister of the Interior, Wilhelm Frick, of Thuringia, that Herr Frick had made the appointment.

MUNICH, Germany, Feb. 3.—(AP) Possibility that Adolf Hitler's appointment to a police commissionership in Thuringia had automatically admitted him to citizenship was characterized by one of his lieutenants tonight as "all bosh."

Dr. Ernst Hanfstaengl, the national socialist leader's press chief, said "we are making progress in our efforts to retain President Von Hindenburg in office, but the cabinet will have to be changed."

MYSTERY MALADY KILLS THREE BOYS, OTHERS FEAR DEATH

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio, Feb. 3.—Fear that the mysterious illness which has killed three young brothers may strike again in the same family gripped surviving members of the household today.

The third death occurred late yesterday while the state health department was still pursuing its scientific efforts to identify and combat the puzzling, fatal malady.

Marion Paszig, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Paszig, Knox county farmers, was the last to die. His brother, Stanley, 9, died January 24, and 8-year-old Raymond died Sunday.

Three other brothers and the parents survive. They have shown no symptoms of the illness, but Mr. and Mrs. Paszig recalled that Marion and Raymond were not sick when Stanley died, and that Marion was not taken ill until several hours after Raymond.

Chemists of the health department spent 24 hours making tests of the youngest victims' blood without finding a trace of poison. Yet, the belief persisted that some kind of poisoning, accidentally acquired, was the cause of the deaths.

The illness was accompanied by a high fever, followed by a breakdown of the blood. Death was preceded by a period of coma.

Marine Lieutenant Clyde T. Brannon Struck in Face During Skirmishes

An Atlanta marine corps officer was wounded and two members of the Nicaraguan National Guard were killed during two skirmishes with insurgents near Matagalpa City Tuesday, it was learned in navy department dispatches from Managua, Wednesday. Four members of the insurgents were killed.

Second Lieutenant Clyde T. Brannon, of 880 State street, N. W., Atlanta, was wounded in the face during the encounter, the dispatches said. His wound was not considered serious. The fighting began when a patrol of native guardia under Lieutenant Brannon and Second Lieutenant Mercede A. Cramer, of Marmarth, N. D., surprised a detachment of insurgents identified as followers of Sandino, the rebel. The insurgent force numbered 100.

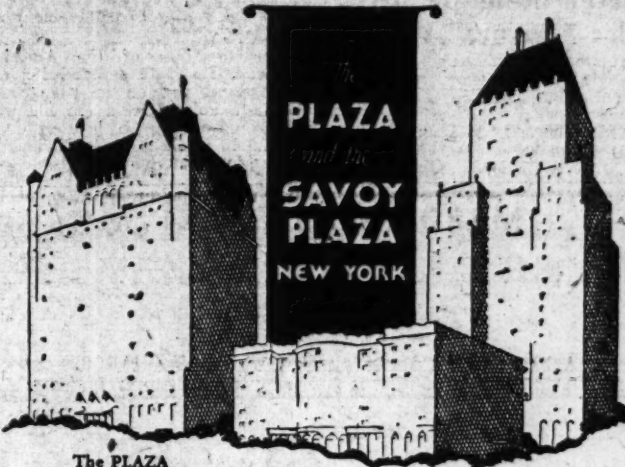

Two skirmishes—one lasting two and a half hours and a second of 30-minute duration—resulted in the rout of the rebels, the advices said. Managua reports said that indications pointed to heavier losses to the rebel patrol than recorded at the scene of the engagement.

Lieutenant Brannon has been in the marine service for about 10 years, his wife, Mrs. John J. Brannon, said Wednesday. His mother, who lives at the same address, has just returned from a hospital where she underwent a serious operation. In addition, Lieutenant Brannon has a brother, B. W. Brannon, of Kirkwood.

North Georgia police Wednesday night were on the lookout for eight negro convicts who escaped from a chain-gang camp near Dalton Tuesday night, during a heavy rainstorm which soon obliterated their tracks and made it impossible to trail them with blood-

Snider, Griffin's Famed Prophet, Misses 20 Days of January's 31

The accuracy record of "Professor" Albert Snider, Griffin's so-called "home-made weather prophet," suffered a severe slump for January, official meteorological records of the United States weather bureau here revealed Wednesday.

For the month just ended, "Professor" Snider's advance predictions hit the mark 14 times, with 20 errors or part errors were chalked up against him. One of the wildest picks of the Griffin guesser was for weather conditions on January 14. His advance prediction for that date was for "rain or snow." On that date

Atlanta sweltered under an all-time January record of 80 degrees.

Again, January 31 was selected by the "professor" as a day for snow "or rain." All day long on that date the sun shone brightly. Hitting the weather nail on the head on the 18th and 19th, Snider correctly predicted fair and warmer. He missed January 20, 21 and 22 with his prediction for rain; scored one on the 23d with "fair," and fumbled the 24th with a prediction which turned out only partly correct. Two more strikes were called on the "professor" on the 25th and 26th; he barely missed the 27th and 28th and got to first base with his prediction for the 29th.

Inside were 32 full dress suits, 13 dress trousers and six fancy vests.

The Griffin guesser tipped the ball for the 30th by saying merely that there would be "increasing cloudiness." The day was a real cold one, right down the groove, as was the last day, and the side was retired in favor of the "regular" weatherman.

"Professor" Snider was reported to have gone to his dugout for a rub-down of his home-made forecasting facilities in preparation for his February prognostications.

Man Gets Life Term For 38-Cent Holdup

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 3.—(P)—A holdup in which the loot was only 38 cents today resulted in a sentence of life imprisonment for Robert Lanier, 34, of Miami.

He was convicted of the armed robbery last December of Roger Fox, 14-year-old newspaper boy.

Judge E. C. Collins, in passing sentence in criminal court, said the amount of the robbery did not enter into consideration of the offense.

"The intent to kill if the robbery was not successful is apparent in this case," the judge said. "Testimony showed Lanier held up the boy with a pistol."

FALSE SWEARING LAID TO SAUNDERS

Ex-Councilman Perjured Himself in Writ Hearing, Indictment Says.

Ex-Councilman W. E. (Butch) Saunders faces the possibility that his efforts to obtain freedom from the Fulton county chain gang may result in additional time being imposed on him following action of the Fulton county grand jury Wednesday in voting a true bill in which Saunders is charged with false swearing.

Saunders, serving 24 months at River camp for bribery, brought his habeas corpus petition into federal court, but Judge E. Marvin Underwood refused to sanction the writ. An appeal is now pending in the circuit court of appeals.

The true bill was voted after the grand jury heard from F. L. Breen, notary public; Walter McElreath, chairman of the citizens' committee which raised funds for the city graft investigation; Edgar Watkins Jr., W. Eugene Harrington, former member of the grand jury; Howard See and Fred Shaefer, Mark Bolling, attorney, conducted the grand jury investigation under appointment by Judge E. D. Thomas as solicitor-general pro tem; after Solicitor-General John A. Boykin disqualification.

In the indictment, Saunders is charged with falsely swearing that Boykin received money from the citizens' committee to influence the grand jury, that Boykin promised to obtain no bill against E. B. Respass, T. L. Taylor, Charles M. Ford and the General Motors Truck Corporation, in consideration of the payment of money by the citizens' committee, and that C. E. Buchanan, former alderman, had admitted being bribed by Howard See on behalf of the Realty Sales Corporation. The indictment sets forth that Boykin did not receive any money from the citizens' committee, and that See has not at any time given or taken part in any bribe to Buchanan.

George Finch, of counsel for Saunders, announced Wednesday night that a demand for trial will be filed this morning. Finch and A. E. Wilson, attorney for Saunders, were called before the grand jury Wednesday. Both

ACTIVITIES DISCUSSED BY OGLETHORPE BOARD

Plans for scholastic and student activities by the woman's board of Oglethorpe University were discussed Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of members of the board held at the Piedmont Driving Club. During the meeting the board elected a committee which will select a slate of nominees for office to be elected in May. Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe, delivered an address before the board.

Mrs. J. M. High, honorary president, presided at the tea meeting to the executive committee with Mrs. Haynes McFadden, active president, and other members attending, including Mrs. B. F. Fulmer, treasurer; Mrs. I. R. Carlisle, recording secretary, and the chairmen of various committees.

The woman's board of Oglethorpe is composed of 300 prominent Atlanta women. It meets each year and plans activities among student organizations, particularly in the field of journalism and literature. Dr. James Routh, dean of the department of literature and journalism, outlined the work being done by the Oglethorpe Players, announcing that it had been decided to discontinue the Oglethorpe "Follies" in 1932 and to revert to their custom of presenting plays. Dr. Routh announced that Oglethorpe this year will offer a standard three-act play, Isben's "Doll House."

Miss Betty Crandall, president of the Players' Club, announced spring plans for that organization, and Sam Miller, director of the club, gave a brief summary of the activities of the club during the first part of the school year.

The following nominating committee was selected Wednesday: Mrs. Lee Ashcraft, Mrs. James T. Williams, Mrs. De Bruyn Kops, Mrs. Frank Mason and Mrs. J. M. High, chairman.

Dr. Jacobs, in his address, reiterated charges made last Saturday against certain members of the Georgia Association of Colleges which expelled Oglethorpe from membership. The president of Oglethorpe charged that the dismissal of Oglethorpe was the result of intercollegiate animosity and undue influence on the part of certain members toward the discrediting of Oglethorpe's standards. At the request of Dr. Jacobs the women's board took no action in the matter.

MISSISSIPPI SOLONS DIFFER ON TAX BILL

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 3.—(P)—Delay in the introduction of bills embracing new revenue plans loomed to night with indications that the senate finance committee and the house ways and means committee have not been able to get together on the two major revenue proposals.

The ad valorem levy now at eight mills and the proposed one cent tax on five cent drinks are the measures at issue, and yet the two committees have not been able to decide whether to submit a two or a three per cent retail sales tax.

Fake Ambulance Calls Harass Undertakers

Acting Sergeant W. J. Anderson, of the city detective bureau, announced Wednesday night that the police are on the trail of a jokester who for several weeks has been reporting a number of fake ambulance calls to services in the city, East Point and Hapeville.

The announcement was made after five ambulances had been summoned to a false alarm accident at McCall's crossing on Lee street, one of the most dangerous in the county. The sergeant said ambulance companies had reported nearly a score of similar fake calls in the last two weeks.

LT. T. E. LOCKHART DIES AT AGE OF 72

Lieutenant T. E. Lockhart, of the Fulton county police and health departments, died Wednesday afternoon at his home, 34 Park Avenue, N. E., after an illness of several weeks. Death was attributed to high blood pressure.

Lieutenant Lockhart, who, in point of age, was the oldest member of the county police, served as chief of the Fulton county health department and secretary of the county board of health. He had been a member of the force for approximately 20 years and was one of the most popular and most widely known officers in this section. He was 72 years old.

Prior to entering the service of the county police Lieutenant Lockhart had engaged in detective work as a member of the Atlanta police department, leaving that service to engage in the real estate business, in which he was engaged for several years.

Surviving are his widow, who lives in Atlanta; a son, Tom J. Lockhart, of Los Angeles; and a daughter, Mrs. W. O. Faust, of Decatur.

Funeral services, under direction of Harry G. Poole, will be held Friday morning at the residence. The exact time is to be announced later. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

ATLANTA, GA., FEB. 4, 1932.

PAY DAY HAS COME.

The warning of Representative Crisp, of Georgia, acting chairman of the house ways and means committee, that "economic chaos will follow if sufficient revenue is not raised to place the federal government on a firm financial basis," again emphasizes the folly of the years during which, under republican misadministration, the money of the people was literally thrown to the winds.

Now pay day has come for these years of waste and extravagance.

For years the tapping of the United States treasury to finance all sorts of impractical schemes has been an easy matter. Governmental expenditures have been permitted to soar to heights never before reached.

We have skimmed for pennies in a few directions while a golden stream of hundreds of millions of dollars has been poured into utterly inexcusable experiments that have done more harm than good.

As a result we are now faced with a staggering deficit of more than two billion dollars—a debt never approximated except in years of war.

There is, as Congressman Crisp points out, only one way that the present crisis in the government's financial affairs can be met and that is for the taxpayers to "realize the emergency and be prepared to make sacrifices."

During the era of frenzied governmental spending democratic leaders, both in and out of congress, raised their voices time and again in warning that sooner or later the unpayable and unjustifiable squandering of the tax moneys would bankrupt the federal treasury.

That time has come and with it a day of reckoning for the party responsible for it. That the people realize this responsibility has been eloquently demonstrated in the results of the elections held throughout the country during the past 12 months, and in the convincing evidences that the democratic ticket will win an overwhelming victory at the polls next November.

SANTIAGO AGAIN SHAKEN.

The sympathy of the people of the United States will go out to the picturesque Cuban city of Santiago in the ordeal of death and destruction undergone as the result of the earthquake during the early hours of Wednesday.

With a population of 130,000, Santiago is the second city in size in Cuba, and is commercially and industrially important. Surrounding mines furnish rich iron, copper and manganese ores. These mines and their allied industries make the province one of the most prosperous in Cuba, and Santiago has reflected this prosperity in the modern development of its streets, waterworks and other civic improvements during the past quarter of a century.

It is one of the oldest of Cuban cities and beautiful structures of ancient Spanish architecture are to be found near buildings of the most modern design. It will be the southern terminus of the magnificent national highway which, when completed, will be one of the most striking boulevards in the world, running through tropical wildernesses and over lofty plateaus for the entire length of the island republic.

Santiago, nestling as it does in valleys surrounded by mountain peaks, has been a frequent sufferer from earth tremors in the past, but from the wreckage of each of these disasters its citizens have built a better and safer city. Now, with their dead still unburied and the business section of the city largely in ruins, they have again started at the work of rehabilitation.

No city was more ground under the heels of the Spanish oppressors than was Santiago, and as the nation responsible for bringing that oppression to an end we should now stand ready to aid this hustling little city to recover from this latest affliction.

FARMS THAT PAID.

Records of profits made during 1931 by Georgia farmers entered in the profitable farming contest conducted by the Georgia State College of Agriculture for prizes offered by the Georgia Power Company give eloquent testimony that a farm, properly operated, can be made to bring in a splendid revenue, even under economic conditions such as existed last year.

With farmers from 44 counties participating, every section of the state was represented in this annual contest and each contestant recorded a handsome profit.

The winner of first place, John K. Lee, of Carroll county, made a profit of 34.66 per cent on his investment, allowance being made for the value of his land and equipment and for his own services as well as for the labor which he hired. District winners made profits ranging from 12.91 per cent to 26.96 per cent.

Diversification of products was responsible for the profits of each of these agriculturists. Dairy products, hogs, cotton, fruits, vegetables, poultry and oats, all contributed to the revenues which paid for the expense of operation, with enough left over for tidy bank accounts for the contestants.

What these farmers accomplished during 1931 can be done by the farm owners of every county in the state. The soil and the climate of each section makes possible a combination of agricultural products from which certain profits can be secured.

No business interest in Georgia presented the opportunity for profits last year that this group of farmers demonstrated exists on the farms of the state. In the security of their own homes, and with the knowledge that they could produce all the food necessary for their families, the farmers of Georgia who adopted modern methods of agriculture last year were in a much more enviable position than were the businessmen and workers of the cities.

GRAND JURY SUPREME.

Prediction is made by Robert Appleton, president of the Association of Grand Jurors of New York county, that the fight on the indictment of Mrs. Gannville Fortescue and the three members of the United States navy charged with murder in Hawaii will be a landmark in American jurisprudence because of alleged pressure put on the grand jury by the presiding judge.

Mr. Appleton emphasizes the "right of a grand jury to refuse to indict, even in the face of all evidence of crime, when it feels that its sense of social or political justice as a cross section of the community has been outraged," and points out the complete independence of the grand jury under American law.

Regardless of the accuracy of the charges that undue pressure was exerted, there can be no questioning the sovereignty of the grand jury. In view, however, of the ignorance, even among many jury members, of the peculiar independence they possess, the making of a cause celebre of the Hawaiian case will serve a good purpose.

Before the granting of the Magna Charta there existed in England representative groups from which the grand jury evolved. Attempts to dictate to grand juries as far back as 1688 hastened the downfall of the Stuarts of England.

The grand jury is not merely a part of the court. It cannot be dismissed before the end of its term and it is a law unto itself.

It is unquestionably the duty of the prosecutor and the judge to give these groups of representative citizens the benefit of their advice and counsel, but the grand jurors should realize to the fullest not only the gravity of their responsibility, but their freedom from dictation.

If the Japanese were wise, they might take the arrival of the American flag ship just as the Chinese were sinking one of their gunboats as an omen of what may happen if they get Uncle Sam stirred up.

The hand of robbers who held an entire Alabama town at bay while they leisurely raided the stores must have been reading wild west stories. They should realize that sort of thing isn't being done now—even if they did get away with it.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASEN

Gandhi in Prison.

Dispatches from India inform us that the Mahatma Gandhi is a model prisoner. He sits by himself in his cell and is allowed but few visits a week and then only from non-political relatives and friends. The day goes by in spinning and writing and meditation. He never complains and seems perfectly satisfied with his lot.

It could scarcely be expected to be otherwise. He is a feeble and frail old man, with hardly enough physical strength to harm a baby, let alone wardens armed with lathis and clubs. Moreover, the whole idea of violence is repugnant to him. Gandhi's own request to his followers not to interfere with his imprisonment and not to attempt any effort to set him free, is a greater guarantee of his safety than the soldiers with machine guns who guard the prison where he sits.

Just before leaving Europe Gandhi said to a few newspapermen that his idea of perfect bliss was to be alone and to think. He didn't care, he said, where he dwelt, in palace or hut, so long as he could meditate on eternal values. "Even if the place be dark, I would not care," he added.

Gandhi's light is within. It's the first time he has had a real rest for years now that he is in prison.

When the supply of first aid material had become exhausted, he again went forward, returning with sufficient bandages to care for the wounded, who could not at that time be removed to the field hospital.

BONERS

If Fox gets Noel Coward in person and obtains a five-year option on everything he may write during that time, to say nothing of being the first to translate his sensation, "Cavalcade," into a play, they will have effected a scoop.

And happy news from the Fox lot is a pleasure to write these days—if all the plans come true.

For some time past there has been a real confusion of names and what-have-you out there. With the exception of the fact that the supervisor of luncheon time was out looking for a position in another studio come tomorrow.

Noel Coward's play, "Private Lives," as made by Norma Shearer and Bob Montgomery at M-G-M studio, became a popular hit from its first showing.

BROTHER'S THREAT AGAINST FIANCÉE REVEALED BY GIRL

not said in a statement to police the day after the shooting that "Eddie said he didn't want to have any trouble with 'Skinny' because he knew he would have to be questioned by him with him as 'Skinny' would have in a race with Eddie."

"I don't remember," Miss Allen answered when asked about the statement. "Well, did your brother make that statement?" Connor pursued.

"Yes," she said. "You didn't tell the jury all he said, did you?"

"I told all I remember."

It was the third day of the trial and the courtroom was crowded with spectators who remained tensely interested as she spoke. Miss Allen was calm while being questioned by the commonwealth, but appeared nervous when she was turned over to the defense.

Ross refused to show her friendliness for her brother as she took the stand and in passing him said "Hello, Eddie."

His sister was followed on the stand by Albert Gallatin H. Lucas, friend of Donaldson. He was the only eye-witness of the shooting and told the dramatic story of the killing.

During the cross-examination of Miss Allen, defense counsel referred several times to her "association" with Donaldson and asked a series of questions which she had told her father of her "relations" with Donaldson. What the association and relations were did not come out in the testimony.

No Warning.

The 18-year-old debutante testified on cross-examination that she knew there was ill-feeling between Donaldson and her father and brother and that nevertheless she made no effort to restrain Donaldson and Lucas from going to the apartment the night of the shooting or to notify the Allen of the impending call.

Furred and bejeweled society, friends of the Allen and Donaldson families, occupying available seats in the little courtroom, hung tensely on Miss Allen's words.

The defendant himself appeared unmoved by her testimony as a prosecution witness. Allen regarded her solemnly and did not return a question when his sister said "Hello" to him. She testified she and Donaldson had become engaged last July and exchanged diamond pins as tokens of their love.

The Best Ship Can Weather a Storm If Everybody Takes to the Lifeboats

By Robert Quillen

Bank depositors ruin themselves.

The chief security of their deposits is their own faith, and by losing faith they destroy the foundation of the whole banking system. No bank is stronger than the faith of its depositors.

There isn't a bank in America that could remain open in the best of times if its depositors lost faith in its security; and, by the same token, nothing but theft or criminal carelessness can break the ordinary bank in time of depression if depositors keep their heads and their faith.

"He who would save his life shall lose it" was spoken of the soul, but it is equally true of money in banks.

The explanation lies in the fact that the actual sum of money in existence is only a fraction of the sum deposited in banks. The total sum of money in America, outside of the treasury, is less than eight billion dollars; yet in ordinary times the banks have eight times as much to the credit of their depositors.

How can the banks hold $5 or 60 billion deposits when the total sum of money in the land is but a fraction over seven billion?

The answer is that money circulates. When you deposit a thousand dollars in a bank, the money isn't locked in a vault to await your return. If banks functioned that way, all of the money would be in storage and there would be nothing to do business with.

The bank lends your money, taking ample security to make the loan safe, and thus makes the profit that enables it to serve you. The bank keeps enough cash on hand to meet the ordinary demands of its depositors, but it lends as much as it safely can—keeping the money busy so that each dollar in the course of a day does the work of 20 or 30 or 40.

If all depositors demand their money at once, the bank must close its doors. The money is safe, but it is loaned to Tom, Dick and Harry and can't be recovered until it is due.

But if you and other depositors keep your faith and support the bank in its proper conduct of business, every dollar is as safe as steel vaults can make it.

No honest bank "fails." It merely continues business as usual until depositors fail in faith and thus destroy it and themselves.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 3.—How does this girl, Constance Bennett, manage to get the box-office hits? This time it's "Lady With a Past," and she'll be a film with a future, for here we see Connie in the role she has really been playing for some time, a sort of wall flower who blooms when she is needed.

But in this picture Bennett's manner and chic gowns are used as counterpoint to an interesting story with clever dialog. Here we see the daughter of a wealthy family who is wayward and capricious, but who is really a good girl. Her father is a successful businessman and she is a socialite. She is a bit of a rebel, but she is really a good girl.

Acting honors in this film really go to Ben Lyon, who plays the part of a young American gigolo in a fashion that brings out all the comedy in his part. Here is an actor who has made big strides in the talkies since his none-too-convincing role of the young Englishman in "Heavenly Bodies."

David Manners, Albert Conti, Don Alvarado and John Rarich are also in the cast of "Lady With a Past," which we think you will like.

Two of Hollywood's most fearless fighters, Harry Bannister and Clarence Brown, have spent days aiding the large airplane patrol seeking the trimotor Century Pacific airliner that was lost between Los Angeles and Bakersfield last Friday.

So far there has been no good news, but it is nice to think that men whose time means so much to them would take the trouble to give what help they could.

ROBINSON BACKS JOSIAH KIRBY LEAVES PRISON

Many messages poured into his rooms. He and his immediate family lost more than $2,000,000 in the crash of Cleveland Discount Company, which had just occupied its new $8,000,000 home.

"The crash of the Cleveland Discount Company," Kirby told The Constitution in an exclusive interview, "was due to two things—the rapid expansion of the company and the extremely vigorous competition from certain financial interests in Cleveland which were active in the same field."

"No officer, director or employee of the Cleveland Discount Company ever was guilty of any violation of the law," Kirby said. "I do not believe a single officer or director of the company incurred a loss of his entire personal fortune."

Tells of Life in Prison. Kirby has been in the federal prison here since last June. He has served the entire period of his seven and one-half-year term, less the normal amount allowed for good conduct.

"I have seen 20,000 men come and go," Kirby said. "I have seen men and women and the warden and officers and guards have experienced nothing but the kindest and most generous treatment and have been nothing but capable and constructive management."

Despite the fact that Kirby is suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis, he is as healthy as a horse. He is a good father and a good husband. He is a good citizen and a good man. He is a good man and a good citizen.

He was active in prison uplift movements, and had the confidence of his superiors at all times. He was a good father and a good husband. He is a good citizen and a good man. He is a good man and a good citizen.

Kirby was dressed in a somber blue suit. He took a patient's path Wednesday, but the additional 30 days was required to permit him to obtain release without payment of the fine. He readily admitted he was "broke."

"I have been in prison for 30 days," he said. "I have been in prison for 30 days. I have been in prison for 30 days. I have been in prison for 30 days."

He began his sentence July 15, 1926. His term normally, with good time allowances, would have expired January 4, but the additional 30 days was required to permit him to obtain release without payment of the fine.

He readily admitted he was "broke." "I have been in prison for 30 days," he said. "I have been in prison for 30 days. I have been in prison for 30 days."

explained, "that the people who cry the loudest about the burdens of taxation are, in most cases, those who do not take the time or the interest to vote for, or against, the representatives who levy those taxes."

Pointing out that the legislature which passed the law levying the tax on voters as a board of directors does to stockholders of a large corporation, and that Georgia is a corporation which has paid $53,000,000, Governor Russell said:

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

THE MAN WHO ONCE WALKED

A mother sends in a two-line clipping which says: "The day will come when people will point to the man who once walked a mile." Then she comments on it.

"But really it does not seem funny to me," she says. "It seems rather tragic that people of this generation get frightened when you suggest a walk. They have to drive the car to the corner grocery two blocks away."

"I should rather spend an hour walking than drive for an hour, any time."

Why does not some philanthropist interested in the improvement of health or race betterment for this generation and the generations to follow offer a prize for walking feats or achievements instead of giving prizes for swimming the channel or something equally spectacular?

"I am a woman nearly 45 and believe that I could walk from here to California in two months (provided the route covered not more than 2,000 miles)."

"My husband and neighbors regard me as a joke, but my husband is much overweight and constantly complains of ill health and 'stomach trouble.' My children, who like to walk with me, and I are very fit physically. I am not afraid of anything."

There is a great deal of philosophy and good hygiene in this sensible woman's words. People are afraid to walk, afraid for one reason or another. The neighbors may think they can't afford to ride. Afraid they may get lost. Afraid they may get wet. Afraid they may be regarded as queer.

FLOOD AREAS FACE SHORTAGE OF FOOD

By the Associated Press.

Floods continued an assault on lowland sections of six southern states today, covering many miles of rich farming country, including Kentucky in numerous instances and driving thousands from their homes.

In Louisiana and Mississippi, food shortages were reported in some camps caring for hundreds of families, although Red Cross officials and coast guardsmen were co-operating systematically in the movement of supplies.

A half dozen counties in the Mississippi delta have been waterbound for weeks and are facing additional trouble with swollen streams out of banks after a long series of levee breaks.

The Ouachita and Red river top a list of rampaging streams in north and central Louisiana, where water is being used to preserve dykes protecting the cities of Monroe and Alexandria. A wide sector of back country is under water.

In nearly east Texas and southeast Arkansas, lowlands have been similarly flooded by backwaters.

Floods continued to spread over lower sections of Kentucky, where the Cumberland and Tennessee rivers still rising.

In Nashville, the waters from the swollen Tennessee have passed flood stage at many points on its lower section, but as yet presents no major danger, due to high levees set far back to take care of the annual spring volume, although its height has been felt in backups into subsidiary streams.

The Mississippi, most feared in the valley, is rising and has passed flood stage at many points on its lower section, but as yet presents no major danger, due to high levees set far back to take care of the annual spring volume, although its height has been felt in backups into subsidiary streams.

Unprecedented winter rains have brought streams throughout the south to flood stage and above.

COUNCIL RESUMES BUDGET WRANGLE AT SESSION TODAY

took up these bonds and now hold them. If the bonds had not done so, the bonds would have been in default, and this would have been a sad blow to the credit of the city of Atlanta. This makes a total of $2,013,203.44.

"As against this the city has a borrowing capacity of $2,000,000. Without the bonds which conform to the general way with the views of the banks as to a balanced budget, the credit of $2,000,000 cannot be secured. After the bonds had been adopted, the city would have been in a position to borrow the full amount of $2,000,000."

Roosevelt Views Clarified On Major Campaign Issues

BY WALTER F. BROWN.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Governor Roosevelt's personal platform, upon which he will rest his bid for the democratic presidential nomination, was largely completed by his declarations on the League of Nations, war debts and the tariff.

When he asserted in a speech to the New York State Grange that he was opposed to

APPEAL TO CITIZENS PLANNED BY MANGET

Enemy of Sunday Shows
Will Ask Public's Help if Ministers Fail.

If the ministers of Atlanta fail in their efforts to prevent operation of theaters on Sunday, an appeal will be made to the citizens of the city to terminate such operation, it was announced Wednesday by John A. Manget, reform leader, who issued a statement commenting on the Sunday amusement situation.

"For more than 15 years," Mr. Manget asserted, "I have fought for one day's rest in seven, and to prevent the commercialization of the Christian Sabbath. I have no apology to offer anyone, and I expect to fight for this as long as I live."

Emphasizing that his statement was made as a private citizen Mr. Manget, who is president of the Greater Atlanta Law Enforcement League, reviewed the controversy waged here 15 years ago over operation of movies on Sunday, claiming that shows run under the name of charity had contributed little or nothing to the relief of charities.

"Of course the present Sunday shows are no doubt run on a fair basis," he added, "and after everybody gets what's coming to them and all debts are finally paid, then no doubt some few children will get shoes and sweaters. In today's papers Mrs. Margeson claims that there will be about $500 for charity after all debts are paid. I feel and think tens of thousands of other Atlantans feel that it is selling our blessed heritage of one day's rest in seven for a very paltry sum, and that the same children would be better off at school for a few weeks if it has come to a pass where, in order to send them, we must sacrifice the Sabbath."

After warning that he would appeal to Atlantans generally if local ministers failed to utilize every weapon in their fight against Sunday movies, Mr. Manget's statement concluded:

"Ragged children must and shall be clothed, but Atlanta will not give up its Sabbath day in order to do it."

DUNAWAY, ADAMS ON WAY TO DETROIT TO GET HARVEY

Judge B. H. Dunaway, superintendent of the state prison farm, and W. J. Adams, field rider, arrived in Atlanta Wednesday night on the first lap of his journey to Detroit, Mich., to bring back Leland Harvey, who escaped two weeks ago from the death cell at Milledgeville.

Judge Dunaway also will take with him requisition papers for Jack Martin, life termer who escaped with Harvey, but Michigan authorities have announced that they will keep Martin there. They expressed the opinion Wednesday that if the two desperadoes were in separate prisons the chances for holding them would be improved.

Except for a suggestion that more money be provided for the commission, there were no developments Wednesday pointing toward the promised official probe of the two breaks in which Harvey and Martin got away a fortnight ago and Abe Powers, Aubrey Smith and Roy Gardner made a similar dash for liberty 72 hours later. Nothing has been heard from any of the last escapes.

AGNES SCOTT GIRLS TO VIE FOR TITLE OF "MISS HEALTH"

"Miss Health" will be chosen and proclaimed the healthiest student at Agnes Scott College on Friday night as the final feature of health week, sponsored by the Agnes Scott Athletic Association.

An extensive program of health and fun is being offered Agnes Scott students this week with the purpose of giving an idea of health that will last throughout the year, of improving posture, and of increasing the efficiency of the students.

"Miss Health" will be chosen from the school's healthiest girls on Friday night, when representatives from all clubs and organizations will go on parade before judges for comparison. Points to be judged are posture, weight and feet. Miss Sarah Hill, of Richmond, Va., was chosen from the senior class as "Miss Health" of 1930-31.

PRINCETON MEN HEAR
VAN ALSTYNE TONIGHT

Princeton news will be heard and Princeton songs will be sung tonight at the Atlanta Athletic Club, when more than 40 alumni of Old Nassau will assemble for the annual meeting of the Princeton Alumni Association of Georgia to hear William B. Van Alstyne Jr., director of the personnel department at Princeton, and to elect officers for the 1932-33 season.

The Georgia association of Princeton alumni includes 40 Atlantans and some 50 other Princeton men scattered through the state, some of whom plan to attend the meeting tonight. Robert H. Jones Jr., Atlanta attorney, is president of the association. Other officers are Norman Coole, vice president, and F. R. Warburton, secretary and treasurer.

MRS. KEMP WINS
FRIGIDAIRE AWARD

Mrs. J. A. Kemp, 340 Candler street, N. E., has been awarded a check for $500.00 for a prize-winning contribution submitted in the national word-puzzle contest conducted by Frigidaire Corporation. Notice of the award was received Wednesday.

First prize, a check for $1,000, went to Mrs. Anna E. Johnson, Youngstown, Ohio, wife of a postoffice clerk in that city. The contest was based upon the formation of a phrase or sentence from words beginning with the letters of the word "Christmas."

A total of 216,000 answers were received. Ten electric refrigerators and 30 checks for $50.00 each have been distributed among 60 other prize winners.

WOMAN LEAPS TO DEATH FROM HOTEL WINDOW

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A woman who was lodged at a hotel in Carolina Smith of Mountville, W. Va., either jumped or fell from a tenth story window to her death early today. Her body was found on the roof of an extension of the hotel.

Clutched in her hand was a photograph of two small children. Police said the woman was about 25 years old. In her room, letters were found addressed to Mrs. Margaret McCoy, Washington, D. C.

PAUL-BONCOUR SUFFERS AN ATTACK OF MEASLES

PARIS, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Joseph Paul-Boncour, head of the French disarmament delegation now in Geneva, was reported today in his home here to be suffering from measles. Premier Andre Tardieu continued to replace him at Geneva.

Atlanta Descendant Of Washington Aide

Among important personages who will participate in the observance of the bi-centennial of the birthday of George Washington in Atlanta February 22 will be Mrs. Arline Scully, lineal descendant, on the maternal side, of General Philip du Coudray, a general under Washington.

She is the daughter of General James W. Scully, of the United States army, who made his home in Atlanta on his retirement in 1904. He died in 1918. Du Coudray offered his services to Washington in Philadelphia. He lost his life in 1778 at Philadelphia when a horse he was riding went into the river and he drowned. He is buried there.

SCHOOL BOND DETAILS ARE GIVEN REALTORS

Details of the proposed $700,000 county school bond issue, which will be voted on at an election to be held on March 9, were explained to members of the Atlanta Real Estate Board at their luncheon meeting at the Piedmont hotel on Wednesday by Jere Wells, superintendent of county schools.

Although the members asked Mr. Wells several questions, the board did not commit itself on a fair basis. Mr. Wells said the county system needed $891,000 for new buildings and equipment, of which $500,000 was needed in the existing Fulton county territory outside of Atlanta, and the rest in the annexed area of Milton and Campbell counties.

These bonds, Mr. Wells explained, would be amortized, and would be paid in 16 years. No extra tax would be required, he said, but interest and amortization would be cared for out of 1-2 mill set aside from the 7 1-2 mills school tax.

In the absence of Milton Liebman, president of the board, Jesse Draper, the treasurer, presided. It was announced that the Atlanta Real Estate Magazine, a new publication, would take the place of the Atlanta Realtor, now published by the board, and would be its official organ.

Rain, Mercury Drop Slated for Today

More rain with a sharp mercury drop during the afternoon is the forecast for today, according to the United States weather bureau here. The forecast will be quite warm, it was stated, with the mercury starting from 60 degrees and climbing to about 68 by noon. The fall during the afternoon may be as much as 10 degrees, it was stated, but no definite range could be predicted Wednesday.

The lowest temperature recorded Wednesday was 64 degrees and 75 was the maximum reached by mid-afternoon, almost equalling a record for the month of February. The mercury's climb Wednesday missed the record mark by just three degrees, according to the weather bureau. A high of 78 degrees was recorded in February, 1931.

CAMPAIGN OFFICES OPENED BY SIMMONS

J. W. Simmons, clerk of Fulton county superior court, seeking re-election, Wednesday announced the opening of campaign headquarters at 75 1-2 Alabama street, S. W., corner Alabama and Pryor street. Frank Fling, Atlanta attorney, is acting as campaign manager.

"Mr. Simmons is asking for a full term for the first time," said Mr. Fling, "and it is a well-established principle that a candidate serving only an unexpired term should be given at least one full tenure in office."

Mr. Simmons is now serving the unexpired term of Captain T. C. Miller.

ABELSON AWAITS WORD FROM 'PA' ON FIGHT CARDS

Believed Stribling Closing Affairs at Miami Before Replying.

Max Abelson, who has engaged the Atlanta auditorium for three fights during February and March, including an appearance of Jack Dempsey, stated Wednesday night that he was facing cancellation of all dates unless he could hear something from "Pa" Stribling soon.

Abelson has been working with "Pa" in the promotion of bouts here for some time and had planned the first of his three shows for February 19.

He intended to follow with two more cards in March, including the Dempsey show. Recently he wrote "Pa" Stribling, asking him to assist him in getting some fighters for his first show. To date he has not had any reply.

It is understood that "Pa" is about ready to give up the idea of promoting further bouts in Miami this year and for this reason may be withholding his reply to Abelson.

It is understood that "Pa" is about ready to give up the idea of promoting further bouts in Miami this year and for this reason may be withholding his reply to Abelson.

Abelson also stated that he was expecting "Pa" to arrive in Atlanta within the next few days to talk over the situation. This may be another reason why he has not written. "Pa" had already informed Abelson that he planned to assist in giving Atlanta a series of real winter fights as soon as he got cleared up in Miami.

"I still think we will have some boxing here, but the February 19 show is almost certain to be abandoned unless we do something right away, for time is getting short," Abelson declared.

Should "Pa" decide not to go through with the fight at Miami he is expected to bring the bout to Atlanta.

Tilden's Opponent Not Yet Selected

Atlanta's tennis fans will have an opportunity to see Bill Tilden, one of the greatest stars of all times, in action at the city auditorium February 28 in an exhibition match with members of his entourage.

The announcement was made some time ago, but as yet no definite word has been received regarding Tilden's opponent in the special match, although it has been learned that a couple of former foreign champions will be included.

Since abandoning the amateur ranks in 1930, Tilden has been touring the country and will be enroute to Florida during his brief stay in Atlanta.

He appeared here several years ago as a member of a theatrical company and gave an exhibition with Bryan Grant, young Atlanta ace.

Special admission prices will be offered college and high school students.

ADAMS WINS.

PINEHURST, N. C., Feb. 3.—(AP) Robert H. Adams, of Chevy Chase, Md., nephew of Secretary of the Navy Adams, today won the 100 target added bird, shoot of the Pinehurst Gun Club with a score of 98.

THE SPORTLIGHT By Jonathan Rice

Snow Stuff.

The big parade of nations gets under way at Lake Placid today and from this point on both ground and air will be full of active athletes. A winter sports program is the only competition where both ground and air are used at the same time. An aviation meet has little ground competition and other games stick closely to ground or water. But the ski jumpers spend a good part of their time in the air and the same is likely to be true of the bobsled division, once the greater urge for victory increases their speed over the slippery zigzag route.

There is no other form of sport that offers an all-around variety of these Olympic winter games. The contests are replete with thrills and the competition ahead looks to be so keen that several records are sure to fall, with most of the world's leaders now assembled and ready for the show. Norway and Finland will remain the dominating nations, as ice and snow are no novelties in the daily lives of their representatives. But they will have keener competition from the United States than they had four years ago in the European zone.

It might not be a bad idea to transfer some of modern football equipment to the bobsled division. A hard leather helmet and some of the leg leather padding wouldn't be the worst fashion in the world when you happen to be sailing over an ice cliff into ravines of rock and forest. In fact, the daring bobsleds need this protection more than any other set of athletes in sport.

Overemphasis?

Anyman who could beat Bill Tilden when the latter was driving into the late stages of the national championship cannot be underestimated. The man is John Doe, who has just sung his swan song to tournament tennis. Considering how Tilden's tennis has sustained him on the heights in professional competition, that semi-final round victory of Doe's at Forest Hills in 1930 cannot be minimized.

However, Doe's good too fine a service and too electric a volleying game for the ground strokes to be given much serious attention. Consequently, without continual play, he could not hold his winning form. Now, he's all wrapped up in business contracts and has made a graceful exit from the game. Somehow it seems strikingly fitting.

Doe's athletic career might be a model for youngsters. Native ability plus courage, trained to bring the greatest success—then a headlong rush into business and some bridge-building behind.

Maurice McCarthy Jr. has done practically the same thing in golf, but Jess Swaster is a better example, for he has held the greatest amateur honors the royal game offers, then turned his back and attacked the problems of a man's business. McCarthy, with fine prospects of national preeminence, has devoted himself wholly to the mining business. Golf is a side line, but he can still be good at it, as instance his survival to the semi-final round at Beverly last fall.

Welter Division.

The welterweight division has been the most notable kinkiness set in facturing this past year. There haven't been a lot of crack battlers in this division, but the title changes hands more regularly. Jackie Fields, of Los Angeles, the former champion, has just snatched the crown from Lou Brouillard, the French-Canadian from Massachusetts, after 1931 had been featured by the Fields-to-Thompson-to-Freeman triple play.

Jimmy McLarnin, the fight promoter, after a long and hard fight, has won the title from Lou Brouillard, the French-Canadian from Massachusetts, after 1931 had been featured by the Fields-to-Thompson-to-Freeman triple play.

Let me assure that 1932 will be a banner year in boxing history. Gate receipts show that it is making a tremendous come-back.

All-Colored Card Promises Action

Promoter Cleve Roby, who after a lay-off of several months is attempting to revive interest in boxing here, believes his Friday night fight show at the city auditorium will prove one of the most pleasing cards he has ever arranged for Atlanta fans.

It will be the first all-colored card of the year here and brings together some real scrappers. The main event will see two fighters who pack power in their punches square off.

Young Harry Wells, New York battler, who meets Lou Hardwick, of Atlanta, in the feature bout, has won his last five fights by knockout. Hardwick also boasts a terrific wallop and is determined to end Wells' string by stopping him. It should provide some real fighting.

Kid LaCula, of Porto Rico and Cuba, will meet Battling McCoy, of Philadelphia, in the second main event, which is booked for eight rounds. Sid Wheeler and Ray Cornell, two heavies, clash in the semi-windup. Other high-class prelims and a battle-royal will complete the card. Tickets are now on sale at Nipley's newsstand, 14 Walton street, and Nick Poulos, 16 Edgewood avenue.

Capitol To Show Basketball Series

A series of features, "How To Play Basketball," will start at the Capitol theater Friday and will run for six weeks.

The series will give the fine points of the game, in fast and slow motion, as explained by an expert coach. They will be shown once a week.

ned to send him to Darlington school at Rome next year. He finishes decatur in the spring. A year there and he'll be ready for college.

It is tradition for an Anderson to go to Oglethorpe. Three sons have gone there. But Alf will be allowed to take his choice and seems to prefer Georgia—because he wants to play basketball, too. Frank Sr. was a baseball star at Georgia in his day.

"I dunno," said Frank, "it's up to the kid—I do know that I'm going to send him to Darlington next year. Don't get the idea that Alf is the last of the Andersons. There's another yet—a younger brother who attends elementary school. Of course he plays on all the teams.

Lovejoy, Purdy and Williamson Win To Take First Place.

Three Atlanta billiard players shared honors Wednesday and took the lead in the second day's play of the third annual three-cushion billiard tournament for the southern championship, at the Elks Club on Peachtree street.

Paul Lovejoy took the lead with two victories and no defeats, while Harry Purdy, defending champion, and Red Williamson supplied the feature matches Wednesday. All three are Atlanta players.

Lovejoy defeated R. W. Fox, Birmingham, 50 to 36, after Fox opened the tourney with a victory over Purdy Tuesday afternoon.

Williamson, a new-comer to tournament play, upset Tommy Johnson, Chattanooga, runner-up last year, 50 to 46, in the best game of the day, while Purdy came into his own and beat George Bruner, Birmingham, 50 far from threatened by the personal animosity between the two players. The night game, which lasted only 68 innings, and Purdy, although his high run was only 3, played consistently throughout. Bruner also had a high run of 5, while Williamson's best was 4.

The Williamson-Johnson match was particularly close, except for the last few innings, when Williamson increased his lead to end the match. The Atlanta was leading, 13 to 11, at 25 innings, 27 to 24 and 50 innings and soon won out. Johnson had a high run of 5, while Williamson's best was 4.

Play will continue at 1 o'clock this afternoon, with three games on the afternoon card and another at night. The night game will start at 7 o'clock, instead of 7 o'clock, due to a regular meeting of the Elks Lodge tonight.

WEDNESDAY'S RESULTS.

Paul Lovejoy, Atlanta, beat R. W. Fox, Birmingham, 50 to 36.

George Bruner, Birmingham, beat A. L. Lewis, Atlanta, 50 to 46.

COMMITTEE TO DECIDE STATE PRIMARY FRIDAY

Democratic Sub-Committee To Discuss Presidential Preferential Primary.

MACON, Ga., Feb. 3.—(P)—Plans have been completed for the meeting here Friday of the subcommittee of the Georgia state democratic executive committee, which body will decide whether Georgia is to have a presidential preferential primary. The meeting will begin at 10 o'clock at the Hotel Dempsey, Charles J. Bloch, member of the committee, said. A full attendance is expected. There are nine members of the committee, in addition to the chairman and secretary of the executive committee who serve in an ex-officio capacity.

It is expected that the subcommittee, too, will discuss the peculiar problem of the new sixth district in the absence of a congressional committee. Mr. Bloch said today that matter would not be taken up or discussed unless it is brought before the subcommittee by one of the three candidates for congress. Representative Carl Vinson has indicated that he would bring the matter to the attention of the committee.

PILES

Piles are swollen veins which are sometimes broken in the lower end of your bowels. They may cause pain, itching, and infection in the rectum. Don't let your piles run on until you must have a surgical operation. But do not treat them with harsh patent medicines, some of which require the use of hard rubber or metal tubes. For hard things should never be put in the tender rectum, except upon the advice of a physician. Ask your druggist for Unguentine Rectal Cream. They bring the same blessed comfort to piles that Unguentine brings to burns and cuts. They are soft, pleasant and easy to put in. They quickly remove the burning, itching, swelling, and help to prevent infection in the rectum. Ask your druggist for Unguentine Rectal Cream by name and see what you can do.

ADVENTISTS TO MERGE 2 UNION CONFERENCES

MACON, Ga., Feb. 3.—(P)—Seventh Day Adventists made large gains in membership in the southland, according to reports rendered today by Rev. W. H. Heckman, president of the Southeastern Union conference, and Rev. N. N. Ashton, president of the Southern Union conference, the delegates in convention in the Beth Israel temple here.

The report of Rev. Mr. Heckman showed that from 1924 to 1931, inclusive, the Southeastern Union conference showed a membership gain of 47 per cent. The report of Rev. Mr. Ashton showed a gain of 35 per cent. The Southern Union conference gains in the Southern Union conference.

The financial report rendered showed that each union conference is on a solid financial footing. The report showed that since the financial depression set in, there has been some losses, though some of the greater avenues of income have shown an actual increase for the year 1931.

At the forenoon session, it was voted to accept the recommendation coming from the general conference to merge the Southeastern and Southern union conferences into one union.

Committees were appointed to perfect the organization of the union, including constitution, officers and plans.

The Rev. I. H. Evans, of Washington, D. C., vice president of the general conference, spoke at the morning devotional hour, also tonight.

South then led a small heart to Dummy's Queen and immediately suspected the distributional freak confronting him when East discarded a diamond. Another spade was led from Dummy and East won with the Ace, cashed his King of clubs and led a small spade which South took with the Queen, discarding a diamond from Dummy. South then ruffed a diamond in Dummy (East discarding a diamond) and returned the diamond five which East topped with the eight. Not wishing to take the chance on this obvious freak of allowing West to get in for a trump lead, and being prepared for an end play, if necessary, South trumped with the Ace and West made the fatal mistake of discarding a club. (Who would blame him?) South then ruffed his last club in Dummy and returned a diamond which he trumped with the King and

KIDNAPING IN GEORGIA CONFESSED IN MEXICO

Woman Says Child Forced To Beg Was Taken From Pavo, Ga.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 3.—(P)—The arrest here of a woman named Guadalupe Gonzales Godine, who, police said, was forcing a little girl to beg, was believed by authorities to be an uncovered a kidnapping mystery at Pavo, Ga.

The woman said that she was a Mexican repatriate and that the girl—about 4 years old, accompanied her from the Georgia town. The girl's name is Mary, but her last name is unknown. Her parents evidently are Americans, police said.

Mary told the police that a woman had placed a hot iron against her back and forced her to beg. She said they had lived in the streets since coming to Mexico.

The girl was described by police as a "beautiful blonde child, about 4 or 5 years old."

The little girl was taken to the General hospital, where the local Women's Aid Society, interested itself in the case, giving her toys and presents. The woman is being held by police.

Miss Bartholomew Gives Organ Concert

Miss Eda Bartholomew added another jewel to her crown of many concert successes Wednesday morning when she gave an organ recital at St. Mark's Methodist church, the fifth of the morning musicales of the Atlanta Music Club. She was assisted by Mrs. D. C. Adams, soprano, and Miss Margaret Cooper, violinist. Mrs. Walter H. Bedard is president of the club, and Mrs. Thad Morrison, general chairman of the morning musicales.

Whenever Miss Bartholomew gives an organ recital her public knows a rare treat is in store, for she is without question a master of her instrument and an authority on interpretation. Her splendid musicianship is evidenced not only in interpretation and technique, but in excellent choice of stops and combinations. Opening with an interesting reading of Rousseau's "Double Theme Variations" and closing with the dynamic and brilliant "Chant Solennel," D'Antalfy, the entire program was marked by finished artistry. A praiseworthy rendition of the first movement of Widors' symphony "V" was given by Miss Bartholomew, handling with ease difficult passages, at times delicate, and at times brilliant, and with an ever-understanding of the many moods.

Miss Cooper played a group of violin solos, including Beethoven's "At Twilight" and Severn's "Lament," revealing an exceptional tone and true intonation, which, coupled with feeling and taste, resulted in pleasing performance. Mrs. Adams sang "Ave Marie," Bach-Gounod, with Miss Cooper playing the violin obligato, and Miss Bartholomew the organ accompaniment, blending three talents into divine harmonies.

Martin's Summer

BY VICKI BAUM.

CHAPTER XXXI.

Martin, who was not acquainted with Herr Lysenhop's apologetic disposition, and who was confronted by an earthquake, a volcanic eruption, or a cosmic catastrophe. May, who was more inured to such outbreaks, said gently: "But listen, Tat—"

"No, I'll not listen," Tat raged. "I will not listen. I have heard enough. A swimming instructor. That's all very well. No money, torn shoes, penniless and out of a job—very well. Anything may happen. He might get on. It is not hopeless. But, May, stupidity is hopeless. Stupidity is absolutely and entirely hopeless. You've done for yourself, Herr Heil, with your Meyer. For me that's final. A penniless man might have my daughter if there was nothing else for it. But an idiot—never. King for Emperor to take this trunk. Not another word. You'll hold your tongue, May, if you please."

May held her tongue. She knew her Tat. But Martin, who was wounded to the quick, not by the rudeness to himself but by the tone in which May had been spoken to, could not hold his tongue.

"Herr Lysenhop," he said, "you're in a bad humor. You have every reason to be. You have been taken, in a swindle merely because he came the count over you, and so now you're in a temper with everything and trust nobody. I am not a man of the world and I am not a business man. But I have my wits about me even though you take me for an idiot. As soon as I set eyes on the count I said: 'That man's a swine.' I said it so much that he straight off. And I say of Meyer—He's an honest man. We shall see who's right."

"We shall see nothing of the kind," shouted Herr Lysenhop, aroused to the highest pitch of excitement and touched in a tender spot by the mention of Anikuschka. "We shall see nothing at all. I wish to hear no more of you. I forbid you, May, do you hear me, to have any more to do with him. Call me what you like the day you see Herr Meyer again. You can have May and my whole business if he ever shows himself again with your film. Enough. Eggenhofer, take this trunk down. Hold your tongue, May. Not a word. There have been nothing but vexations in this cursed France, and this is the last one. It is raining still! Of course—"

These were the last words Martin heard Herr Lysenhop say. The rest came only in a confused rumble from the stairs. Herr Lysenhop, with one arm in his motor car and the other May with the other and pushed her through the door. A little cigar smoke was all that remained in the hotel bedroom and a crumpled newspaper which were the last words Martin saw. Martin smoothed it out and absent-mindedly put it in his pocket.

He could not think much of what went down the stairs in the wake of Tat's echoing storm of anger. As he went in his confused state around the dark corner near the reading room two arms in leather gloves were flung round him and eager, trembling lips were pressed against his clenched teeth.

"Carla," he said weakly and alarmed. "No, May—" was the answer as she tore herself away. Immediately after the motorcar outside went quickly off. Martin, reaching the entrance in a few steps, found nothing but a cloud of gasoline fume.

After Lysenhop left, Martin passed vacant days, days suspended over a void in a way that made him sick and dizzy. There was nothing to look to. Nothing to carry him along, nothing to rest upon. Martin was like a child gazing after a balloon that has escaped from his hands. He stared in dismay at a world where such things could happen. It was an altogether hateful and unsatisfactory world where since May had been snatched away from it, Freunsee was a horror, a desert. An evening stroll to the Zirkus in memory of past occasions came to no good. It ended in an unmanly torrent of tears against which he clenched his teeth in vain.

All the same, life went on. He continued to train, in spite of being disqualified. In fact, just because he was. He wished to establish a record for his own private satisfaction, from mere obstinacy and in revenge and self-justification. And he had to eat. And there was the letter from Herr

Meyer to wait for. . . Such was Martin Heil's daily round after May left. She was no doubt very competent at English commercial correspondence, but she seemed to have little aptitude for love-letters. How was this unsentimental, unceremonious, and ruthlessly self-contained outdoor girl to write love letters? She actually sent him picture post cards. Sometimes, too, a few lines in a thin gray envelope. The Lysenhop was traveling in the Dolomites apparently. "I think of you," wrote May. "Lots of love." Or—"Pity you're not with us. One kiss from your May." In one letter she said: "We will both come here next summer. It is perfectly lovely. Always your own."

Martin put these letters and post cards in his drawer near the medal of real silver. From this same drawer he withdrew his now purposeless savings—the hard-won seven shillings—and took his shoes to be soled. For three days he had to go about in old gymnasium shoes, which was the more annoying as during these three days he had been wearing his new ones. On the fourth day he went in his mended shoes to Schwoisshackel's restaurant and spent what was left on a good meal.

In himself, he had become strangely unbalanced and unsteady. He bobbed about like a ship without ballast. The reason perhaps was that he had lost faith in himself, or at least in his own judgment. The outburst of the world-wide Herr Lysenhop had overwhelmed him. Herr Meyer became a shadowy figure. Martin thought often about Herr Meyer, and the more he thought, the more he felt that Herr Meyer was right. He was right. Martin gave up. He gave up expecting any letter. It was no use expecting such a thing to happen outside of fairy stories and novels. Herr Meyer had gone to America and left no address. He was beyond the reach of letters, legal proceedings, or any kind of communication. The outlook was dreary.

Sometimes Martin had a meal, and sometimes not. One morning he was so hungry that he was off to Schwoisshackel's by 10 in the morning and spent there every penny that he had. He ate with liver sausage and the last fine day had brought him. He filled and warmed himself with food. He began with liver sausage, and then devoured the whole menu—soup, meat, vegetables, entree, potatoes. In between he swallowed bread and mopped up the gravy with it. He ordered an omelet, too, and ended up with cheese.

On the way back he met the Mayrers with Pamperl. The Mayrers were good-natured and they thought sometimes that Martin got very little to eat. They asked him to lunch with them and would not take a refusal. At midday he took his second meal for whose five courses he could scarcely find room after having already done himself so well.

The way home he was caught in a storm that passed on in a shower of rain, and in front of the Petermanns was accosted by the von Brinnmanns—sister and niece. They, too, wished to entertain him, and they took him out onto the terrace that in May's absence seemed so vacant and meaningless beneath the patter of rain, and there he was given coffee and cakes. He felt a slight nausea over the cream buns, but he overcame it. Fraulein Stefanie von Brinnmann sat beside him in so radiant and undisguised a state of felicity that the fashionable visitors to the Big Petermann stared, and some even pointed at her.

"I've put something for you in your cabin," Frau Birndt whispered to the office as he went home, and she put an abashed finger on her lips. "Birndt needn't know anything about it," she whispered with a knowing wink, as if conjugal fidelity were at stake.

Miss Grace McKittrick Makes Appeal For Highest Type of Girl Scout Leaders at Meeting

Miss Grace McKittrick, member of the national field training staff of Girl Scouts, was principal speaker at the annual luncheon meeting of the Atlanta Girl Scout Association, held yesterday at the Biltmore hotel. She appealed for the highest type of Scout leader and called attention to the fact that, of the 10,000 Girl Scout troop leaders in the country, there is a much smaller proportion of women between 30 and 35 than of younger age groups. A large majority of Girl Scout leaders have been Scouts themselves, Miss McKittrick explained, their occupations being about evenly divided between teaching and housewifery and nearly half of them are married.

"It is a pity," she said, "that more women over 30 don't take up Scout leadership as an avocation. By that time their families or careers are well-started, and the young people would profit by their freshly matured experience. A Girl Scout leader must have principles but no prejudices," continued Miss McKittrick. "At 30 or thereabouts, most women have gotten rid of the prejudices of youth and have not yet assumed the prejudices of age. They are more or less open-minded and that, with the addition of a well-informed mind, is the greatest attribute a Scout leader can have. The young leaders are fine in their enthusiasm, but the older women who has this same enthusiasm with the addition of the tolerance that comes with living around a bit more, get not necessarily better results, but she gets deeper results."

Right Leader.
"The way the Scout program is interpreted to the girls in the troop, makes all the difference in the world. It has the right sort of leader," Miss McKittrick, whose home is in Natchez, Miss., is a graduate of Newcomb College. She has been a member of the national field staff about a year. Last summer she gave training courses at Camp Hoffman, Providence, R. I., and at the national leaders' training camp, Edith Macy, Briarcliff Manor, N. Y.

Mrs. Frank Holland, commissioner of the Atlanta Girl Scouts, who presided at the luncheon meeting, commented on the significance of the camp scene on the table. A miniature camp scene with a model of an amphitheater to be built at Camp Civitan was most attractive decorations for the table. Miss Lucile Cannon, local director of the Atlanta Girl Scouts; Willis Sutton, superintendent of education; Frank Miller, Community Chest, and Mrs. Jane Abbott, writer, were introduced.

Attending Luncheon.
Attending the luncheon were Miss Catherine Park, national representative for the Juliette Low region; Mrs. Lee Ashcraft, national board member; Mrs. Arthur Harris, regional chairman, and Mesdames John M. Miller, secretary of the local council; William Talley, former Girl Scout director of Atlanta; George H. Noble, president of the leaders' association; Mesdames A. H. Beisel, A. H. Clark, John Herzfeld, J. M. Norman, Edward Lewis, Harvey Parry, Mildred Seydel, E. K. VanWinkle, Louis Elsas, Robert Bradner, R. W. Smith, Mildred Wagon, Price Smith, Hubert Anderson, Robert Chesbire, B. H. Palmer, F. W. Alcorn, Rex Stafford, Trimble Johnson, Joseph Hodgson, E. G. Wilson, Sarah Small, Grace Bayard, Alfred Newell, J. E. Heard, Misses Dorothy Keithley, Ellen Newell, Sue Fincher, Myra Graves, Ruth Elder, Frances King and Louis Moss of the advisory board of the Girl Scout council.

Frank Neely, member of the advisory board, spoke on the relationship of the Girl Scouts to the Civitan Club from a civic standpoint. Mrs. Wade H. Barnes, of Birmingham, Ala., emphasized in her message the value of scouting in developing the character and spiritual life of the girl.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

A young woman writes me that she is engaged to a man that meets all her requirements but one. He is dowdy, unneat and unkempt. She is ashamed to walk down the street with him because his hair is never brushed, his collar is never fresh, and his clothes never appear cleaned and pressed. She wants to know how she can get it over to him that this deficiency is not only unattractive to her but that it will militate against him in business. Her theory is correct. Next to integrity a good appearance is the best asset a man can have in business and in social life.

A man told me once that when he was married his income was very small and he said to his wife: "My dear I cannot afford to give you the clothes you want but I must be well-dressed myself. My wife and I went into the office of men of large affairs, city-bred men, that put great store by grooming and tailoring, and if I am to do business with them it is necessary for me to make a good appearance." Not one woman in a thousand could see the wisdom, or the justice of what he was saying but his wife did. He prospered and he often said that his appearance was one of the chief contributing causes to his success. When he made money he gave it lavishly to his wife and they often spoke of the old days when she was shabby and he walked behind her in his "tailor-mades."

Of course every young man cannot afford to buy tailor made suits, and it is not necessary. However, fresh linen, well pressed clothes, a neat appearance are indicative of something more praiseworthy than a simple desire to make an attractive front, something beyond mere physical pride. They are, rather, clear indications of a well-ordered and well-balanced life. If you will look around you at the men who have been successful you will find that it is a rare thing to find among these one that has neglected his personal appearance.

A business woman remarked the other day that she used to think good grooming a special prerogative of the female sex, but that after working in an office with men she had concluded that it was more important for a man to be well-groomed than for a woman. Any man who is careless about his personal appearance discounts himself with those that are not careless.

Aside from its importance in business and commercial life, every man owes it to his wife and sweetheart to be neat and clean. Pride plays a big part in romantic love. Every woman wants to be proud of her husband, wants to feel that he is a man among men. There is nothing that cuts down that feeling of pride any more than to see him ill kept. It doesn't take much time and it doesn't take much money for a man to shave daily and keep himself neatly dressed. It only requires a little forethought and a little system. Any man can exercise both. And if he will only stop and think what these mean to the woman that loves him, he won't neglect these little niceties.

A clean handkerchief in the coat pocket is a badge of honor in a woman's eyes. Two sharp creases in a pair of trousers are stripes of distinction to a woman's mind. Clothes, suit, shirt, tie, handkerchief that harmonize combine a sympathy that delights her. Why would any man withhold such simple pleasures from the woman he loves?

When little bowels get clogged, body wastes accumulate, and persons and infection find a fertile breeding place.

The first step towards relief is to rid the body of impure wastes. And for this nothing is better than genuine time-proven Castoria.

HAAS, HOWELL & DODD OLD FIRM'S NEW NAME

Insurance Concern Becomes Corporation, and Fair Dodd's Name Added.

The firm of Haas and Howell, widely known in the insurance, real estate and mortgage loan field in this section, Wednesday, announced that henceforth it will be known as Haas, Howell and Dodd.

In order to perpetuate the names of those most directly responsible for the traditions and progress of this firm during its 40 years of activity, it has become a corporation and added to its title the name of Fair Dodd, who for many years has been a partner in the business.

Haas, Howell and Dodd has the distinction of having on its books at present mortgage loan clients of over a century standing. Aaron Haas, who founded Haas and Howell in 1882, handled the investment of funds for these clients even before the organization of his firm. Those accounts are still active on the books of Haas, Howell and Dodd, and are pointed to with pride by the company. Today Haas, Howell and Dodd represent as loan correspondents the Provident Mutual Life Insurance Company, the Guardian Life of New York, the National Life Insurance Company, of Montpelier, Vt., the Aetna Mutual Life Association, of Hartford, Conn., the Mortgage Bond Company, of New York, the Mortgage Company of Maryland, Inc., and many estates and individual clients.

In the insurance field, the firm long has been prominent, representing some of the largest old line companies in the United States, among them being the Saint Paul Fire and Marine, the Continental, the Automobile of Hartford, the Union Assurance Society of London, the Pennsylvania Fire, the Yorkshire Insurance Company, the Pacific Fire and the Southern Fire of New York. It is interesting to note that Haas and Howell were the first agents in the United States to be appointed by the Maryland Casualty Company, of Baltimore.
